_none7

code: _none7

Programs exists in two versions - basic version is free of charge, optional version is paid (customer obtains licence card with installation code).

Installation program is common for both versions of program (basic and optional). When program is running first time, it asks installation code - if code is entered, program will run as optional version. If no code is supplied, program will be installed as basic version.

Technical data